Book 13 of The Care Collection

Introduction: The Empty Chair at the Table

I have an empty chair at the table. The chair is the chair of the friend who has faded. The chair is the chair of the friend who has moved. The chair is the chair of the friend who has died. The chair is the chair of the friend who has drifted.

The empty chair is the centerpiece of the 50+ life. The empty chair is the chair that reminds you of the friends who are no longer there. The empty chair is the chair that reminds you of the friends who are no longer in your life. The empty chair is the chair that is the work of the year.

The empty chair is not the enemy. The empty chair is the friend. The empty chair is the friend that reminds you of the friendship. The empty chair is the friend that reminds you of the love. The empty chair is the friend that reminds you of the work. The work is the year.

I am writing this book for the friend who has the empty chair. I am writing this book for the friend who is noticing the empty chair. I am writing this book for the friend who is the work.

The work is the year. The year is the gift. The gift is the friendship.

The friendship is the gift.

Let us begin.

Chapter 1: The Smaller Circle

The smaller circle is the circle that is the truth of 50+. The smaller circle is the circle that comes with age. The smaller circle is the circle that is the work of the year.

The smaller circle is not a failure. The smaller circle is not a problem. The smaller circle is not the work. The smaller circle is the truth. The truth is the work.

The smaller circle is the circle that has fewer people in it. The smaller circle is the circle that has lost people. The smaller circle is the circle that has changed. The smaller circle is the circle that is the air you breathe. The air is the work.

The smaller circle is the work. The work is the year. The year is the gift.

The Three Truths About the Smaller Circle

The smaller circle has three truths. The three truths are the foundation. The three truths are:

- Truth 1: The smaller circle is normal. The smaller circle is the norm at 50+. The smaller circle is the way the 50+ life works. The smaller circle is the work.
- Truth 2: The smaller circle is not a measure of your worth. The smaller circle is not the measure of your value. The smaller circle is not the measure of your lovability. The smaller circle is not the work. The work is the year.
- Truth 3: The smaller circle is a chance to deepen what remains. The smaller circle is the chance to invest in the friendships that are still here. The smaller circle is the chance to build the friendships that will remain. The smaller circle is the work.

The three truths are the foundation. The foundation is the work. The work is the year.

The Five Reasons the Circle Gets Smaller

The smaller circle has five reasons. The five reasons are the things that cause the fade. The five reasons are:

1. Death. Death is the most obvious reason. Death takes the friend. Death is the work. The work is the year.
2. Distance. Distance is the second reason. Distance takes the friend who moves away. Distance is the work. The work is the year.
3. Drift. Drift is the third reason. Drift takes the friend who was once close. Drift is the work. The work is the year.
4. Disagreement. Disagreement is the fourth reason. Disagreement takes the friend over a conflict. Disagreement is the work. The work is the year.
5. Different lives. Different lives is the fifth reason. Different lives take the friend who is in a different season. Different lives is the work. The work is the year.

The five reasons are the work. The work is the year. The year is the gift.

A Letter to the Friend With the Smaller Circle

Dear friend,

I see you. I see the smaller circle. I see the empty chair at the table. I see the phone that doesn't ring as much. I see the friend who is no longer there.

I have been there. I have lived the smaller circle. I have lived the empty chair. I have lived the phone that doesn't ring. I have lived the friend who is no longer there.

I want you to know: the smaller circle is not the end. The smaller circle is the beginning. The smaller circle is the chance. The smaller circle is the work.

The work is the year. The year is the gift.

I want you to know: the friends who are still here are the gift. The friends who are still here are the work. The work is the year.

I want you to know: the friends who are not here are not forgotten. The friends who are not here are remembered. The remembering is the work. The work is the year.

I want you to know: the friends you have not yet met are out there. The friends you have not yet met are waiting. The waiting is the work. The work is the year.

The smaller circle is the work. The work is the year. The year is the gift.

With love,

A friend who knows

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

S. Shharma is the author of The Care Collection - books for couples in the second half of life, written by a man who lived the silence and survived it.

He lost his wife of many years to cancer. He was her primary caregiver through every stage of her illness. He held her hand in the hospital. He sat in the waiting room at 3 a.m. He learned the silence of a marriage the way you learn a language you never wanted to speak.

He is also a businessman, an M.Sc., an MBA, and an APSCM from the Indian Institute of Management (IIM) Calcutta, with thirty years in corporate management. But these are not credentials you need to trust him. The credentials that matter are the ones in the books.

The Care Collection is not about how to fix a marriage. The Care Collection is about how to live one - even when the marriage is quiet, even when one of you is sick, even when one of you is gone.

He lives in India. He writes from the perspective of someone who has been on every side of a marriage - the partner, the caregiver, and the one left behind.

THE CARE COLLECTION - 14 BOOKS BY S. SHARMA

For couples in the second half of life. Written by a widower, M.Sc., MBA, APSCM (IIM Calcutta), 30 years corporate.
